

Literary Element: Character

Name _____

During the course of reading a novel, characters often go through many changes. Pedro is no exception to this rule. A character's traits can be determined by what the character says, does, thinks, or what others say about him. Feelings or emotions are more short-termed than traits. Some traits displayed by Pedro include determination and talent. Feelings include homesickness and fear.

Select a trait or feeling and give Pedro a rating from 1-10 (10 being the highest) to show the changes that he experienced throughout the journey. The seven months of the journey are represented on the graph. For example: In August, Pedro might receive a score of "10" for fear because he was afraid to make the journey and in December, he might receive a "6" for fear because he was less afraid. Color in a bar for each month of the journey. Use a different color for each month. (This can also be done as a line graph on graph paper.)

The feeling or trait that I will trace is _____ (Give your graph a title)

10
9
8
7
6
5
4
3
2
1
	August	September	October	November	December	January	February

Draw a conclusion based on the results of your graph.
